Grocers Provide 1.5 Million Pounds of Food for Feeding America® Food Banks

In the recent eighth annual "Hunger Has a Cure" campaign, Food Lion Family and Bottom Dollar Food raised a record 1.5 million pounds of food to support local food banks affiliated with Feeding America, the nation's largest domestic hunger-relief charity.

The campaign offered customers the opportunity to purchase ready-made food boxes or donate food in bins. Roughly 250,000 boxes were sold in the effort, which ran from Nov. 17-Dec. 28.

"We are ecstatic about the 1 million meals that we were able to provide to families in need from the 'Hunger Has a Cure' box sales," said Bill Garcia, community relations manager for Food Lion Family and Bottom Dollar Food. "We are proud to work with Feeding America to help eliminate hunger in our communities, and we will continue to do all that we can to help our neighbors."

The ready-made food boxes contained five to seven items and were available at Food Lion, Bloom, Harveys, Reid's and Bottom Dollar Food stores for $4.99 each. Customers would buy the boxes or donate other non-perishable items, and the contributions were donated to Feeding America-affiliated food banks and their agencies.

The grocers' long-standing partnership with Feeding America dates back to 2002, and over the years, more than 250 million pounds of food have been donated to Feeding America and its affiliated food banks.

In 2010, Food Lion Family and Bottom Dollar Food grocery donations to Feeding America amounted to more than 34 million pounds of food, valued at more than $51 million.

For more than 50 years, Food Lion Family and Bottom Dollar Food have served as caring neighbors and strong corporate citizens in the communities in which they operate. Through corporate and foundation giving, campaigns carried out by its many stores, local programs and individual associate involvement, Food Lion Family and Bottom Dollar Food support communities and numerous nonprofit organizations.
